The world; it's; laying in ruins. Everything.....chaos.

Humans.....Mostly wiped out. Obesity is everywhere, any if you aren't obese, the Cheese police will come and fatten you up. I am one of the only surviving skinny people. Every day, I stuff pillows under an extra large t-shirt to make me look fat. No one has babies anymore, either.

formula on how to make cheese, but they didn't tell humans in case of a worldwide panic. Now it's just a bunch of artificial flavors put together.

Hunger.....Non-existent. But obesity, it's opposite, has become it. People are dying by the millions daily.

All in all, the World Order has failed. All it has done is ruin humanity. That is why I will start a rebellion.

Chapter 4 by lumberjack_writes

I slipped out of my house wearing my natural obese look, to slip away to the old butcher shop, which was now illegal to visit, because there was other foods apart from mozzarella cheese. I grabbed my natural helping of lettuce, bread, butter, and sugar. I toddled back to my small cottage in the forest, which was less swamped with cheese police than the city. I had moved all of my belongings into a quite large hole in the corner of my purposefully destroyed house under floorboards. The Mozzarella police checked my house every day and found no traces of me. EVER. They never will.
